Now, can we fix the entryway sign, please?

The Schuylkill River trailhead at Riverfront Park in Pottstown features a large entryway sign to orient people using the trail to downtown Pottstown.

For nearly two years, this sign, which contains outdated information, has been peeling from its structure.

It reflects very poorly on Pottstown’s image. The parks department has a $1 million budget. Why can’t this sign be fixed?

Commentary by Thomas Hylton

Great!

VOLUNTEER PAINTERS fill in stencils Saturday making up a new mural at the Pottstown entrance of the Schuylkill River Trail, designed by Pottstown artist Jody Wenzel in cooperation with Art Fusion 19464.

Great!

A RIBBON CUTTING conducted by state, county, and local officials Wednesday officially opened a new section of the Schuylkill River Trail along the Industrial Highway between Hanover Street and Moser Road.