It’s all over town

It’s hard to walk anywhere in Pottstown without seeing signs for Seussical, the all-district musical opening tonight at Pottstown High School.

The musical comedy based on the stories of Dr. Seuss debuted on Broadway in 2000, followed by two national tours and a show in London.

Pottstown’s production features 139 students, including 68 on stage and four in the orchestra, from the high school, middle school, and Franklin, Lincoln and Rupert schools. Four staff will also perform.

Showtimes are:
- Tonight at 7 p.m.
- Saturday, Feb. 29 at 2 p.m.
- Sunday, March 1 at 2 p.m.
- Thursday, March 5 at 7 p.m. (special needs audience)
- Friday, March 6 at 7 p.m.
- Saturday, March 2 at 2 p.m.

Seussical signs are popping up all over Pottstown.
